

Laughable -- the USA is the Dominant Global Nation

Consider that America just lost the Syrian war which it fought with Israel and Saudi supported terrorists, proving that the use of paid proxy fighters is fraught with all manner of problems, the largest being, they LOSE! Therefore we can add Syria to the list of failures with Vietnam, Afghanistan, Iraq, Libya, etc; which war in Afghanistan threatens to bleed neocon ambitions like a vampire's breakfast. It seems that American failures today are the NEW NORM for a nation fracturing from within with numerous internal DIVISIONS/frictions, social and political. Add all the nations America is currently interfering with one way or the the other, sanctions and/or CIA 'covert' meddling and the list becomes huge for a single nation to deal with, but that is not the issue, though it's a sure recipe for national implosion.

The fact that America is at war with so many nations, indicates what? Simply that the world is turning its back on America and its pathological interference with the sovereignty of other nations, never has 'yankee go home' and fuck yourself been more appropriate. But of course the American mass media is loath to state the obvious, that America is losing its grip on the world, which it held since WWII. Yes indeed, it's all but over for the USA as a global power with influence, though militarily it remains a force to be reckoned with but not against the Russian-Chinese alliance that has quietly launched a two-pronged attack on the USA, economic, China's BRI and militarily, Russia's advanced weaponry, which spells double barrel death for the now globally ostracised and non-competing USA.

But who is lamenting America's demise, NO ONE, which is another wake-up call to the reality-starved American people, lost in Trumpian 'politics', though clearly it is really Trumpian pathology. So people, keep chanting USA, USA, USA ... and see if it helps, though I and many others would prefer that you do, as then your demise is dramatically accelerated.

Now to all those American think-tanks, stick the above in your mesmerised pipes and smoke it. When you can't see past your own mesmerised noses then failure is guaranteed. And should you wake up overnight (impossible) it's far too late to reverse your rapid decline, as other nations continue to make constructive, productive agreements, you mass murdering, doodle dandy clowns. America is a dead man falling, you are just too stupid and blind to see it.

Now to the critical matter, the millieu that forms the banker/corporate shadow government or elite rulers would soon jump ship for better climes/locations, as they have NO ALLEGIANCE to ANY nation, we all know who they are and what they represent; if perchance they attempt entry into your nation arrest, imprison and execute them, as THEY are the source of ALL America's problems and all the world's conflicts today. They may appear human but they are a viral DISEASE with only ONE cure, DEATH! Be advised.
