

The End of ALL Empires and Antiquated Political Ideologies/Systems

by rayn Sunday, Sep 9 2018, 9:34pm

international / prose / post

The 21st century is most noted for something never covered in any media; it is NOT the usual constant, needless, mass murdering wars for profit, based on pretexts and lies, or the ceaseless destruction of our environment by corporate greed, or the HUGE disparity of wealth that prevails everywhere today; instead, most noticeably, its foremost characteristic is FAILURE almost across the entire political and social spectrum.

All governments today serve minority mega-wealthy elites while pretending to serve their nations and the people, this is no longer a secret, it is widely accepted FACT. The 'emperor' has no clothes and his tiny penis protrudes like a pimple for all to see.

The masses in their desperation and disillusionment have become easy prey for demagogues, hucksters and con artists that promise and fail to deliver; minority elites know their days are numbered but continue to imagine their wealth based on commodities, deeds, contracts and paper money would save them, forget it, without a deceived/enslaved organised society and functional economy value/wealth based on subscription becomes meaningless and worthless and elites are left isolated in the bunkers and refuges they have built to eat their gold and diamonds, the now rapidly approaching social storm will annihilate ALL old values. Indeed, the 21st century is the breaking century for the old antiquated and dysfunctional, none of it works sufficiently well to survive intact into the uncertain, calamitous future, plain to see.

The national dreams once offered to the masses have become reality nightmares and no-one has offered any real sustainable alternatives, only the same old tribalism, racism, fear, slavery and conflict. However, it is now supremely evident how old failed systems (dys)function and therefore fail, it's in our faces.

Traditional warfare is kaput as the people of modern technological nations no longer have the stomach or ability to fight traditional wars, they are now totally addicted/dependent on their super-weapons which would destroy not only the 'enemy' but themselves and the ecosystem, war has therefore become a lost cause/strategy, today war is redundant, or suicidal.

Society has been fragmented by self-seeking ruling elites aware of the consequences of their divisive strategies but unable to help themselves, as the lure or addiction to meaningless profits reduces them to self-destructive captives of their own pathological flaws. The world if viewed without culturally distorted/polluted eyes is in the terminal stage of a fatal illness, there is no escaping it.

And so we are left in uncertainty, confusion and fear which paralyse the ability we do possess for constructive, fearless solutions, real solutions, like the unification of all human kind, the exposure of all religions as slave-inducing sick ideologies based on other men's fictions, leaders that purport to represent the people, thoroughly corrupt duplicitous government, etc -- it's all LIES and the sooner the global masses wake to the fact and embrace each other as ONE, in order to survive as free sovereign people, the sooner constructive solutions could be realised.

Indeed, it is easy to anticipate your response, impossible, you say, not a chance we've heard that proposition before, it can't be done, etc. Well of course I am aware that it SEEMS like a tall, impossible order but it isn't!

There are no magical, easy solutions, continuing conflict/competition is the path to destruction, you see it NOW, today, and you should know that we have reached a crisis point which allows no other solutions, BUT peace, unity and peaceful COOPERATION, as the status quo is clearly nihilistic. So my response to the usual whines and wingers or losers is, YOU HAVE NO CHOICE, either overcome your tendencies to destruction and division or die a miserable (avoidable) death.

The only real EFFECTIVE r/evolution is internal and while you continue to say NO, I say YES! So die like the, unfit for survival, scavenging dogs you are or embrace the only real practical solution. It's your choice. Either unite and eliminate all the destructive forces that plague our societies today or allow a handful of extremely sick and terrified psychopaths to destroy you and our world.

---

Inverse Times Open Publishing. <http://inversetimes.lingama.net/news/story-280.html>