

Failed Political Systems/Governments Give Rise to Ultra-right Dictatorships

by jake Tuesday, Oct 30 2018, 8:32pm

international / prose / post

Have we forgotten so soon that fascist dictators rise as a direct result of failed democracies? Hitler rose to power easily riding the tide of massive discontent, the German people were so desperate for positive change they willingly surrendered to a criminal fascist dictatorship, though it should be noted that Hitler did indeed improve the social circumstances of the German people, which social devastation was imposed by external allied powers post WWI.

Massive infrastructure projects and boosted manufacturing production were undertaken in Nazi Germany providing jobs and increased living standards for all; industry and business thrived during the early stages of the Nazi regime and so did Hitler, he indeed managed to pull the German nation and its people from the economic and social mire, he did promise to do exactly that and the German people were ecstatic after decades of externally imposed poverty and hardship.

Of course Hitler and the German people had an axe to grind, retribution to the nations that crippled Germany after the armistice of WWI, and so the extremely popular leader and his criminal regime thrived. Hitler satisfied the nation and fulfilled all his promises, unheard of today. We shouldn't forget that lies sustain no political leader for long and Hitler, who is often caricatured today, played the German people well, he also enlisted the power of the industrialists, bankers and courts, he was supported to the hilt by all facets of German society with the obvious exception of the Jews, who Hitler diabolically utilised as scapegoats, to exploit the frailty in human (herd) nature, the result was that Hitler, yes the real Adolph, as opposed to the caricature, transformed Germany from an almost failed State into one of the most powerful and prosperous nations in Europe in roughly a DECADE, an ASTOUNDING achievement, though behind it all the seeds of doom had already sprouted, no nation has ever been able to militarily take on the world and succeed; indeed, we know the rest, Germany's momentary FAILURE during the post WWII term.

HOWEVER today, though vassal to the USA, a once again united Germany prospers whereas other European nations wallow in the doldrums economically and socially. Hitler, maintained fanatical popularity to the end simply because he delivered on the early promises he made and won over the population, notwithstanding that the previous failed social system begged for an authoritarian fascist leader, anything was better than living in imposed hardship and poverty with hyper-inflation and economic chaos. So clearly, if anyone is to blame for the rise of fascist and ultra-right leaders it was the stupid allied nations that continued to punish Germany long after their victory in WWI. An entirely idiotic and infantile allied vengeance was to create the perfect circumstances for WWII, and so the entire western world paid through the nose for its miscalculation/folly. Punishing the innocent duped masses only results in the rise of dictators and sure retaliation, pure and simple.

Indeed, fulfill promises, demonstrate that you are indeed able to marshal an entire nation for the benefit of all and the people will support an authoritarian leader that trounces on anyone that disapproves of his leadership, there is no magic to politics but leaders must deliver and IMPROVE the circumstances of the people, that is an imperative that all astute political leaders should be aware of.

So to today's rise of ultra-right fascist dictators, of which the latest is Jair Bolsonaro of Brazil, should not surprise anyone, the USA has unwisely allowed Wall Street to play the global economy into ruin and a huge price would be extracted for the failure of the American State to regulate and tame the destructive economic forces that have literally imposed economic hardship on the rest of the world while they parasitically accumulate and hog ENORMOUS amounts of GLOBAL wealth, a prescription for doom; indeed, if powerful corporate and elite Jewish banking families do not wake up soon and re-distribute their stolen wealth, their fate would be assuredly sealed.

We should never lose sight of the primary cause, fascist leaders only rise to power when nations and existing governments fail to manage and provide for their people, as is now a universal political plague.

I referred to 'human frailty' earlier in a different context, nevertheless, AGAIN that weakness/blight in our nature results in the elite mega-wealthy clinging evermore to their stolen wealth, there is not a snowflake's chance in hell that the pigs at the trough would share one cent of the ill-gotten gain with anyone, which behaviour of course ends in CALAMITY, wars, vengeance and revenge to a fanatical degree BUT this time it would be a GLOBAL show stopper, the entire WORLD is poised to vanquish ALL governments and leaders everywhere in a massive tidal wave of retribution once the masses surely will become aware how they have been intentionally deprived, cheated and exploited to the hilt. Once the hair trigger is set nothing would save the elites and their filthy ill-gotten gains; today they face total annihilation from local populations they have abused and exploited. So, the world now faces a tumultuous entirely predictable chaotic future, marked by massive destruction and wars combined with corporate induced climate change, which combined events would make all previous wars and destruction known to history kindergarten playtime, BE ADVISED one and all.

Phenomenal greed and ruinous mismanagement have once again created the circumstances for the soon to be witnessed by all, violent changes about to infect the entire GLOBE, and all this because humans fail to learn CLEAR lessons from history. It doesn't take a prophet or visionary to add 2+2.

Have a nice day while you can, you losers. Indeed no-one would 'win' the next unnecessary but SURE holocaust. Global elites beware, the only safe place for you is outer space as there is no way to safeguard yourselves from the guards you would hire, you have ALL earned your DOOM.

[I urge the persecuted majority everywhere to share this piece as widely as possible, we are only able to save ourselves by a surgical removal of all elites before THEY, in a futile endeavour, plunge the entire world into war in the vain hope of saving themselves.]

Inverse Times Open Publishing. <http://inversetimes.lingama.net/news/story-326.html>