

The Deep State Makes ALL the Decisions

by cyd Friday, Nov 9 2018, 9:20pm

international / prose / post

Don't kid yourselves doodle dandies, the entire political circus in the USA is just that, a circus designed to enthrall and give the impression that voters count when reality dictates that voters count for NOTHING, as the status quo has not missed a beat since the days of Bill Clinton and probably earlier, but don't let that screaming reality interfere with media fabricated FICTIONS and PROPAGANDA today.

Consider recent rumours or 'leaks' designed to sway the public, the latest is that Trump would soon attempt to fire Mueller and end the investigation into Russian collusion, notwithstanding that 'Russiagate' had no substance to begin with, after two years of intensive investigation by deep state player Robert Mueller, NO EVIDENCE, all he has come up with is the usual corruption of local entities BUT NOTHING on Russian collusion, and this from a former FBI head. So what does that mean to you, doodles? I could care less because its all a sham, a planned and designed charade to distract from the REAL issues, climate change, wage disparity, needless illegal wars for the profit of the few, social oppression via the surveillance police state and the ONGOING elite takeover of the nation. Does it worry you that you are losing ALL your hard won freedoms and rights? NO, because there's a post election frenzy still underway, talk about a media nose-ringed population!

Now consider the hard reality that the NSA has all the dirt on Trump but not a word from them, accident, not in your miserable duped slave lives. Of course Trump is compromised by the Russians, it was Russian oligarchs, tight with Putin, that lent Trump $millions because American banks refused to lend money to a failure and habitual bankrupter for his grandiose developments, it was Russia that quite legitimately bound Trump with MONEY and Trump is all too well aware the Russians have the ability to finish him financially. So it's not a matter of collusion its a matter of compromise by debt slavery.

The dead-end Mueller investigation worked a charm to distract the population and give the impression Trump would be removed from office, but take a closer look at the orchestration of this transparent GAME being played on the American public. It served to quell direct CIVIL action against Trump who lost the popular MAJORITY vote, in other words more people dislike Trump than like him. The entire Russiagate fantasy was and is a MEDIA EVENT designed to defuse and distract, as no evidence was ever forthcoming, but the mass media relies on repetition not evidence, dummies. And so we have never heard the end of it, to this day, particularly now that 'rumors' that Trump would attempt to fire, or indeed succeed in firing Mueller have been released.

Press rumors are NOT accidental today, they are part of the game and as Mueller has run dry as was known from the start, it is time for his staged demise so another major headline scandal is in the making while the deep state's untroubled status quo remains out of sight out of mind, accident or contrivance you tell me?

I tend to give credence to Mueller's backgrounding as Mueller's investigation was substance-less from the start, what has two years of costly investigation produced? Only simple local corruption charges against Trump's business associates and legal advisors, NOTHING MORE, it was all a red herring to manage majority Americans that disapproved of Trump, though quite CLEARLY Trump serves deep state and elite interests to a tee and that gives the game away, I can SEE, thank you Jesus -- LOL.

There never was any collusion ONLY compromise, Trump has not colluded he has simply borrowed from where he could because local investors/banks viewed him as a bad risk due to previous experience and his disastrous track record. Indeed, Trump has always been full of shit and blather, but while he serves the deep state he is indeed useful to the real powers that be, or haven't you noticed your wage stagnation or services being trashed, notwithstanding the nation's infrastructure falling to pieces in your face, getting a clean glass of tap water in the US is now a challenge, disgraceful for any so called developed western nation, who is being taken for a ride, its certainly not the elites?

A social and political commentator (Krugman) recently admonished American journalists for being so easily played, he didn't get that wrong, investigative journalists are now a dying breed in America, today they all work for the 'man' and suffer huge job anxiety so when editors say jump, the stable of reporters reach Olympic heights.

Nevertheless, real social and political indicators exist and they are screaming but few if any are able to see and hear above the contrived media spin, din and tinsel. And do you know what message these indicators are transmitting? Huge social and political failures and global power re-arrangements and all this before your stupid eyes, kiss goodbye to your star-spangled dreams and media LIES, suckers, you have no idea what day it is.

Inverse Times Open Publishing. <http://inversetimes.lingama.net/news/story-336.html>