

“National Security,” A Pathetic Excuse For Hiding State Crimes

by claire Sunday, Nov 25 2018, 8:35pm

international / prose / post

It would be a good start to define what US State criminals actually mean by ‘national security,’ as clearly the major function of American ‘national security’ TODAY is to hide the MANY crimes of criminals in the employ of a criminal State.

Consider the compromising exposures facilitated by Wikileaks and Julian Assange of cold blooded murder by deranged, amphetamine soaked/fed US military personnel and the disgusting political intrigues of State, particularly the Democrats, which exposure has altered the outcome of presidential elections, an outcome that interfered with the, up to then, political management of ruling oligarchs and media plutocrats.

Sure, deep state powers are pissed to the extreme and have a hard on for getting Assange, who dared to expose them and American State crimes, which are compromising to the extreme, notwithstanding that not one American agent has been assassinated or targeted by foreign powers over these massive leaks. The leaks are valuable in that they are vile to the extreme, BUT TRUE -- no-one is denying that -- and have exposed the world's leading civilian killing nation as the most heinous mass murdering, invasive, in every sense of the word from big brother pan-surveillance to illegal military invasions to STEAL the valuable resources of weaker nations, but will they succeed in their attempted crucifixion of Assange?

It is now proven that the Iraq invasion was based on a raft of orchestrated (by whom?) LIES, which international bodies refused to buy, so what did criminal America do to justify its illegal invasion of Iraq, which resulted in over one million civilian casualties and a ruined, to this day, State -- similar to the outcome for ‘debt free’ socially advanced Libya, which is now a ruined anarchic state in debt to western banks, coincidence not likely -- form a ‘coalition of willing criminal leaders,’ namely Howard of vassal Australia and Blair of the UK, whose LYING statement that Saddam could invade the UK in 45 minutes, would go down in historical infamy. Iraq and other American criminal invasions were/are ALL based on LIES, to this day, think Syria.

And when these monstrous crimes are EXPOSED for the WORLD to see, truth facilitators and tellers are of course targeted by American deep state criminal forces, which today have effectively hijacked the American Republic and annihilated its fledgling democracy.

Now consider the excuses used by this criminal state to launch its perpetual wars of resource theft and mass murder, fighting the noun 'terror' and spreading 'freedom, liberty and democracy,' while of course oppressing the home population with pan-surveillance, make sense to you, notwithstanding the REALITY that all the USA has ever spread with its illegal invasions is RUIN, murder and anarchy, but it has secured the resources it was after? So there it is in the face, a lying criminal mass murdering regime that stops at nothing to STEAL what it wants, rather than do business like China and other civilised nations. Millions of human casualties and tens of millions refugees, which America is DIRECTLY responsible for, are merely the consequence of crimes of appropriation, innocent people everywhere are expendable to American interests, as historically PROVEN.

But anyone who dares challenge this flagrant, appalling criminal practice must necessarily be targeted and destroyed, and the sealed charges/indictment against Julian Assange, who is guilty of telling the truth and exposing state crimes, nothing more, is a testament to the fact. So where is this liberty, justice and democracy? No doubt in the same place as Iraqi 'WMD' and the Libyan and Syrian 'right to protect', R2P! The world has long since seen through the machinations of the American state and the facade it presents to the world.

So how do US think-tanks and a stolen government define "national security?" An important question because it's clear that it hinges on hiding state crimes and the culpability of State criminals, and we should note that not ONE member of the mass murdering Bush administration has ever been held accountable for the obvious proven crimes of that administration, nor has Blair or Howard. Justice in America and its vassals is now missing in action.

All of which leads me to question NOT swallow the propaganda disseminated by the American mass media, which did a fine job convincing the American public of the legitimacy of the Iraq and other nation-ruining, illegal invasions, however, today those methods have all passed their use-by date.

Spreading democracy, as if? The US plutocracy should implement real democracy at home before attempting to impose its thoroughly corrupt rule on other nations by LYING to the WORLD again, notwithstanding the WORLD now has America's measure, and it ain't a pretty picture, so a big thank you for hapless, egomaniac and rather stupid, for not consciously harnessing the power of the masses, Julian Assange. There is no denying Assange has served the global public with his compromising publications, notwithstanding that any free media organisation would have published the same material if it had a chance.

The likely prosecution of Assange will not go well for the USA, as it would open Pandora's box regardless of all the precautions to hold the trial behind closed doors with gag orders.

It is NO SECRET that unrepresentative, unelected forces have captured America, and so the trial would be a staged kangaroo event, similar to Manning's, though Assange has more currency and traction than Manning, his lawyers would have a field day with the case though they may be restricted from divulging material, 'national security' again, no doubt, BUT what credibility remains for the USA? NONE, and so various legal representatives would take the risk if not ALL; exposing the trial as an orchestrated sham by a proven criminal state. So yea guys, give it your best shot, you have no idea what is planned, nothing short of your downfall, though you imagine you have covered all facets/aspects of backfire.

But American criminal amateurs are no match for international professionals that do not take kindly to intimidation by brutish rustics. Criminal states have no authority whatsoever, as will be proven YET AGAIN for the entire WORLD to see; so again, go for it, you mindless American morons -- and if this is the best persuasive discourse you can muster then it's all but over for the star-spangled, bloodstained banner.

Inverse Times Open Publishing. <http://inversetimes.lingama.net/news/story-357.html>