

New World Order is REAL but it's not as Planned by GHW Bush and his Controllers

by vance Thursday, Dec 6 2018, 10:02pm

international / prose / post

While militaristic America pursues its 'bomb and steal' policies around the world, China has quietly and peacefully played the US with CONSTRUCTIVE, as opposed to America's DESTRUCTIVE policies. Almost half the world has been taken by China with infrastructure development, a win-win situation that few nations are able to resist as everyone benefits. Meanwhile, brutish and rustic America imagines it can succeed with VIOLENCE and theft, though it is finally learning this method only wins enemies, opposition and eventual bankruptcy. And so the world would soon belong to China with its soft, non-violent economic developments, too numerous to list here but by all means research the stupendous GROWTH of this WINNING approach and confirm for yourselves.

Faced with this winning formula, America set in its violent ways, has no other answer other than to use its vassals as pawns in the vain hope that it could destabilise China and Russia, the Ukraine mischief is the obvious example today.

Nevertheless, America is aware that pushed too far Russia and China would retaliate leaving America and Western Europe as a heap of radioactive waste, even Washington neocon crazies are able to see that militarism is not an option, when confronting Russia and China BUT it has no other options other than bribery, while it still has a viable currency now threatened by China, and so the game is reaching crisis point YET America refuses or is unable to learn the obvious ADVANTAGES of the Chinese peaceful development method as opposed to hyper-destabilising militaristic destruction and overt THEFT. So who do you imagine is winning the great game? Indeed, it is China and Russia, each with its own critical contributions to make, which need no further explanations here.

Essentially, if the REAL world is considered -- a difficulty for Americans -- and analysed it's all but over for the ignorant and violent USA and any nations foolish enough to support a rapidly failing pseudo-imperial State.

Unknown to the greater majority is the extreme panic that has gripped Washington, it has stupidly allowed China and Russia to quietly take centre stage while attempting to use imbecile Trump to intimidate intelligent and cultured European world leaders into economically supporting its failing and inefficient weapons industries, which today produce second rate (due to outsourcing) weaponry at enormous overblown prices, proving that outsourcing and globalisation are failed models compared to central government controlled, highly efficient and economically competitive models, note the security vulnerable, inefficient, everyone in it for the money ONLY, American models.

Indeed, economically developed centralist, communistic models have clearly out-competed outsourced laissez faire capitalist models TODAY. Proven by the highly advanced weapons products at extremely low COST that Russia and China produce.

Indeed, numerous outsourced companies all vying for profits at the expense of LIMITED national treasuries is spelling doom for American laissez faire capitalism.

You see, by deploying 'Art of War' strategies the battle is over before it starts, by simply allowing failed opponent models to arrive at their inevitable collapse. But has America learned? Not by a long shot, it continues to imagine it is the world's hegemon, the sophisticated American media methods utilised to deceive, dis-empower and enslave the American population have also had an impact on the ruling elites that utilise same, as they now imagine that they continue to be relevant in a world that wants nothing more than to be rid of American influence permanently. Well done you star-spangled rustic dreamboats.

Clearly the future of the world is ASIAN. America has 'blown it' for the entire, foolish, western world. Though soon, intelligently led western nations would join in on the benefits of mutual economic and social developments that China offers.

See:

<https://www.strategic-culture.org/news/2018/12/06/mattis-tells-all-without-any-evidence.html>

<https://www.globalresearch.ca/video-behind-us-attack-chinese-smartphones/5661957>

<https://www.strategic-culture.org/news/2018/12/04/encouraged-by-us-ukraine-prepares-to-stage-military-provocation.html>

Inverse Times Open Publishing. <http://inversetimes.lingama.net/news/story-379.html>