

Elites Finally Losing Grip -- their mass media/Propaganda apparatus is FAILING

by jenny Wednesday, Dec 12 2018, 8:08pm

international / prose / post

The chief example of the above reality today is the spontaneous, LEADERLESS, multi-partisan protest explosion of the 'yellow vests' in France triggered by extreme taxation measures on fuel, which crucify the average person/worker/public at large, though of course the French "president of the rich," as he is known to the public, reduced taxes for the super rich -- fair and democratic? Not a chance, as the truly MASSIVE, spontaneous protests indicate.

Now consider the means by which the elite super rich have deceived and managed the public by controlling media narratives. Media analysts are aware that people believe almost anything if narratives are constantly REPEATED, for example; Europeans were easily convinced that AUSTERITY for the masses and continuing luxury for the rich, was somehow natural or normal and good for the nation, the fact that harsh austerity measures did not trigger the responses they should have, was astounding in view of the transparency of the repeated lies. No evidence or statistics were ever provided to sell the monumental lie that fat cats are good for the national economy. The entire empty ruse was feeble to say the least, but the lying media was victorious for a while. Consider that elites traditionally function PARASITICALLY by exploiting everything around them, other humans and the planet/environment.

If anything this Austerity for a select group, the MAJORITY, should have seen open revolt BUT the mass media convinced the people that opulence, luxury and tax benefits for the mega-rich are 'normal' and NECESSARY to improve the economy, while the majority learned to eat shit and continue to suffer harsh policies and plummeting living standards, which have resulted in huge personal debt spikes that now threaten western economies. Where is the plain logic in it? SELFISH and SELF-INTERESTED elites care little for others, they are parasites that know no other way to survive and so it was consequential that they would HOG all gains and government benefits for themselves, why wouldn't they, they own governments, so who was going to stop them? Well, the struggling, oppressed PEOPLE, that's WHO!

The public have finally learned what Soviet Russians and other populations that have lived in totalitarian societies have known for decades, the concentrated, private or state owned, media LIES in order to safeguard the interests of ruling elites and placate or minimise an otherwise HUGE threat from the public.

It should have been clear to world governments and the public that concentrated media ALWAYS results in propaganda, yet corrupt bought governments allowed media concentration to run amok, so today media narratives are largely controlled by elite interests, research CFR media policies to validate for yourselves. So false narratives have become standard fare, in other words the masses are fed lies continuously today.

Furthermore, if any alternative media outlet dares publish the TRUTH, it immediately becomes targeted and backgrounded by large IT corporations many of which were initially funded by the CIA, Google and Facebook for example, notwithstanding how journalists with integrity are threatened today to the point of death or at the very least a ruined career.

We see the nefarious ruse before our eyes; 'Russiagate' is wholly and solely a media fabricated narrative originally designed to tame and depose, if necessary, president Trump. Fabricated charges against Wikileaks for publishing the facts are completely without substance, as indeed, is the Russiagate fabrication, the best Mueller could come up with in more than two years of thorough investigation are common law related frauds and irregularities but no collusion with Russia, which is proof enough of media fraud, as Mueller has every available state spy and intel agency at his disposal, all of which couldn't produce a skerrick of evidence to substantiate Russiagate, FACT!

While Americans are slow learners compared to the rest of the world they are slowly catching up and beginning to understand they have been duped and that the harsh living standards of average people today is largely the result of elite exploitation, which includes thieving everything available to the great cost of the nation and people.

Wall street has never had it so good though Wall Street bankers were directly RESPONSIBLE for the 2008 global economic crash. And to make matters worse they have not been charged or changed their behaviour, which inaction promises another monumental crash, notwithstanding that mega-wealthy interests OWN the American government so the PEOPLE are left to eat shit while that corrupt government serves elite minorities, people have been convinced that their plight is largely the fault of other nations, Russia/China or immigration, etc, NOT the direct FAULT of CORPORATIONS OFFSHORING jobs and industries for increased short term profits -- and to hell with America, it's the short term BOTTOM LINE and nothing else that matters to banks and large Corporations, do you doubt it?

So why believe one word of the OBVIOUS BULLSHIT that streams continuously from the elite owned mass media?

Europeans have finally woken and are NOW PURSUING their rights and a FAIR DEAL for ALL? It may take a little more time BUT the people may indeed finally WAKE TO THE FACT that THEY are the most POWERFUL social force in existence, not a tiny group of minority parasites.

Regarding media stories, ALWAYS DEMAND VERIFIABLE PROOF and if none is forthcoming, wipe your arse with it.

Have a nice, AWARE day.

<http://www.informationclearinghouse.info/50745.htm>

Inverse Times Open Publishing. <http://inversetimes.lingama.net/news/story-387.html>