

The Truth Is ...

The entire WORLD is sick and tired of US military interventions and interference from Washington. However, that reality hasn't dented the delusional neocon dream that America owns the world and is able to dictate foreign policy to other sovereign nations from Washington.

But it's a hopeless dream as history records, no nation today, including so called allies, are interested in ILLEGAL U.S. interventions and coups, they are fed up and the people of targeted nations are acutely aware of Washington's tired old tricks to usurp legitimate governments.

Now consider recent failed coup attempts, the Ukraine and Iran where CIA killers and their bought cohorts targeted and murdered innocent people in the street in the vain hope of triggering the overthrow of elected governments and stealing the nation.

In the Ukraine, the nation is now split with Russia taking the resource rich area and the puppet fascist government now on continual life support from the West as it has no viable economy. Then the much televised murder of a young, beautiful woman in Iran some years back, which criminal and horrific act also failed to incite the overthrow of the established government, but what of the victims? Washington considers them expendable, nothing, chosen randomly they kill and murder to achieve their criminal goals; however, the world is much the wiser today and psychopathic America has not changed its approach to crime therefore it has become transparent and known to the world that it is dealing with a GANGSTER State.

Focus on the calculated murders of INNOCENTS for expediency, not the failed coup attempts and you would see clearly the callous, psychopathic mass murdering forces behind these failed attempts, which arise from the delusion that America is above the law and the moral values of civilised society. In fact AMERICA in reality is everything it purports to despise, easily seen and continually evident/proven today particularly in Venezuela as I write, which nation is under no illusions regarding the REALITY of America's illegal attempts to dominate and STEAL the resources of the nation.

Today the forces of international opposition against America have increased to the point where America is not able to depend on its servile allies any longer, except for a few knee-walking nations such as Australia and Germany, the house of cards is collapsing and with it American influence world wide. Due to its own machinations, which are no longer hidden from the world, American power is waning to the point where Russia is now able to openly and confidently declare that it would nuke, with vastly superior technologies, the USA should it attempt to interfere or wage a war with its European placed offensive missile systems on Russia's land borders -- choke on the prospect of vaporization neocons and Pentagon puppets, as there wouldn't be time to find shelter in bunkers!

Though even that threat hardly moves neocons to sanity. And so the USA would persist with its tired strategies until either the American people legally remove the criminal government, by all and every means, according to the founding documents of the nation, or it becomes a pariah nation, which spells death economically and in every other respect, as no nation is an island in today's world.

So whichever perspective one takes those types that acquiesce to Washington would pay the ultimate price for their treachery, as there are no secrets in today's world.

Yes, it's all but over for the criminal, mass murdering USA unless average Americans act decisively to RESTORE their nation to the principles encoded in its founding documents, but of course that is highly unlikely due to media control, but not beyond possibility as, as each day passes more of the rottenness of Washington's criminal enterprises and machinations become KNOWN to Americans and the entire WORLD.
