

Leopards Spots and Oil

by cyd Sunday, Mar 10 2019, 9:50pm

international / prose / post

The common denominator with all the 21st century's American wars is of course OIL and other resources with some geostrategic considerations. Indeed, all the so-called 'humanitarian,' 'right to protect' and illegal 'regime change' wars are primarily concerned with resource THEFT on a grand scale. Spreading democracy (which doesn't exist in the USA) and 'Liberty' is a pathetic joke if one connects the obvious DOTs. Which reality signifies that the offending nation is lawless and morally bankrupt, as it kills millions of innocents and ruins stable nations to achieve its nefarious ends.

Paul Wolfowitz, substituted today by neocon John Bolton

However, these wars are now ready to economically bankrupt the USA as it has been forced to print huge amounts of essentially worthless, but for Saudi support, paper dollars. Arch-neoconservative Paul Wolfowitz stated publicly that the cost of these ("cakewalk") invasive wars, based on lies and other pretexts, could easily be regained after the conquered nations were exploited by American corporations -- via installing puppet leaders to facilitate the plundering process -- but reality never replicates the imaginations and projections of madmen, as it is now obvious that the USA has lost the non-military aspects of these wars.

America is now in a quagmire of its own making, Syria is lost, Afghanistan is lost, Ukraine is lost, as Russia now controls the resource rich East, and Iraq is rejecting Washington rule as I write. Not a bad failure record, I am reminded of 'the best laid plans of mice and men,' but America, as is obvious, NEVER learns from history and never takes good advice. You see, the military industrial complex is ravenous and MUST sell its products, weapons, to the Pentagon and foreign allies, which it is failing to do today though it has 'cleaned up' in the past; indeed, it is these vested interests that are largely responsible for compromising America's economy, influence and power throughout the world, well done avaricious, traitorous pigs!

It is a simple fact of capitalism that products must be sold otherwise the producers fail and go out of business. So, has the military/industrial/techo surveillance complex won or lost, indeed it has won as $trillions of taxpayer funds have been wasted on these illegal wars, as the resources remain largely in the ground with no safe ground from which to exploit the stolen riches, which present reality Wolfowitz paid little if any attention. But to the main factor.

America was advised by its experts and think-tanks that such aggressive involvement in the Middle East would end in a losing quagmire; Dick Cheney once articulated that accurate assessment, now reality, on the media, but that was before the insane neocons captured Washington. So today the ambitious (insane) plan, PNAC, has failed miserably, as it was all a neocon wet dream from the start; belligerence ends in ruin as opposition to bullying and thieving grows and grows, yet has the administration learned? Absolutely not, the Venezuelan coup attempt, again led by neocons, to appropriate its OIL, is failing as I write, it is a glaring example of America's stupidity, notwithstanding many of its policies are forced by vested interests that must turn PROFITS, though ironically 'conquered' nations are not stable enough for these corporations to extract profits and compensate for the HUGE losses incurred -- choke on it ruling bankers/corporatists.

Indeed, America needs no external enemies as its own system and parasitic institutions are doing a far better job destroying the country than any enemy nation could hope to achieve, hence China and Russia's rather timid approach when obviously provoked, they need not involve themselves as America is now in rapid decline on every front and the future only portends more ruin and collapse, when will America ever learn, NEVER, and so the future for that nation is sealed, as it cannot help itself.

Meanwhile China is having a field day with economic development, while America remains bogged down and haemorrhaging in its futile and pointless attempts to gain FULL control of conquered nations in order for parasitic corporations to be able to SAFELY exploit the wealth, which control to date has proven IMPOSSIBLE. So a softer target was chosen, Venezuela, and that soft target is also proving to be a match for a lost, floundering, and hijacked by banker/corporate interests, America. When will the American PEOPLE ever learn that THEY own the nation?

John Bolton, the insane neocon dream persists

---

Inverse Times Open Publishing. <http://inversetimes.lingama.net/news/story-517.html>