

The Destabilisation of Western Societies for Short Term Political Gain

Indeed, the Christchurch massacre of innocent Muslims is an expression of far right ideology, division, exceptionalism and violence.

I recall the Sydney Cronulla anti-Muslim riots when cowardly Australian prime minister, John Howard, for short term political gain stoked the flames of racism and division. To paraphrase, “we will decide who enters Australia” and other divisionist diatribes which sparked and saw expression in the Cronulla riots, have no doubt. Though Howard later pulled back on his racist and divisionist rhetoric, the damage was done, as the moronic Australian masses took the bait, absorbed the message and acted it out in cowardly attacks on Muslims in Sydney.

The point I am making as a cultural analyst is that nothing, behaviour, belief or otherwise, falls out of the sky, everything social is traceable to a source, so without too much difficulty the source for such appalling violent behaviour is clearly evident today as issuing from the USA.

It was Steve Bannon, who engineered Trump’s win, he appealed to conservative voters and created the ‘Alt-Right,’ a form of fascism to be sure, though he went to great pains to label it ‘nationalism.’ After he was sacked from his government post by Trump, Bannon toured Europe preaching his alt-right fascist ideology and went so far as to say wear your, ‘nationalism’ as a “badge of honour!” And so today ‘populist’ politics as it is wrongly labelled, is taking hold in Europe and other western nations, as it did in the time of Hitler and Mussolini where social differences were utilised to gain political power and create convenient scapegoats.

Well, we all know the end result of this type of politics, but it nevertheless has great short term impact, however, once the tiger is released, it is very difficult to recapture and tame.

Now consider the basic VIOLENT aspect of extremists. All extremists share this behaviour as they are a social disease regardless of religion, politics or any other factor; once released by fool politicians they violently charge.

America today leads the world in violent, ILLEGAL, mass murdering, military interventions in other weaker nations, to justify these grossly illegal behaviours it simply and pathologically blames the ‘other’ for all the problems it has itself created and uses the other a scapegoat, as Hitler and Goebbels did with ease, base human nature is what it is, unfortunately.

The war on the noun ‘terror’ instigated by far right Zionist neocons, has today resulted in the deaths of millions of innocent men, women and children, and the displacement of tens of millions more. Previously stable and prosperous nations have been reduced to a living hell by America’s violent racist politics and illegal military interventions, which started first with the demonisation of Muslims (the other) for political gain, prior to that it was the blacks and communists.

Today America holds the appalling record of being the leading civilian killing nation of the WORLD, now that reality is never covered by the American media for obvious reasons. Yet the message this reality transmits is CLEAR, use whatever excuse you can think of and then kill the perceived ‘enemy’ created by the perverse ideology and propaganda of extremists.

Now, when the world's leading democratic nation behaves in this manner it gives license to its converts to behave in similar fashion; the vast majority of course are appalled but borderline fringe types lap it up and charge with all the abandon of those that imagine they are saving the world from a social pestilence when in fact the pestilence is themselves. Consequently, flouting laws and civilised behaviours is done without a thought as extremists see themselves as saviours.

The sick fucks that join ISIS or white supremacist movements are clones produced by a sick perverted ideology, which core ideology is easily traceable to the USA originally, just ask Mr Steve Bannon and the American Neocons and of course the mercantile forces that have always ruled America.

Now if you wish to rein in these dangerous tendencies you must do it at the source or root of the problem, not treat the symptoms -- the media loves to isolate events without making obvious connections. The Christchurch massacre is yet another expression of a social disease that has never been properly assessed, addressed or treated and it won't be the last unless western societies take a long hard look at the CAUSES and eliminate/remedy them.

However, the more these sick events assault the sensibilities of civilised people, the vast majority, worldwide, they foster empathy and brotherhood with the innocent victims as indeed tomorrow it could be anyone that is targeted by the sick rhetoric of politicians that seek short term political gain and to hell with the very serious consequences for that society. Note, the USA is rapidly failing as a power and influence on the world as I write.

["WE are ONE," shall be the salutation of a new enlightened age.
