

The Next Drawn Out Mass Media DISTRACTION - Assange

The ridiculous - no evidence from day one - Mueller investigation is over. Yet it served its INTENDED purpose, to distract the media and the public away from the real critical issues that affect everyone.

Pre-planned no doubt, by the nefarious elites, is the next major distraction strategy, which would continue to keep the elite agenda and its dire effects on YOU from public focus.

It is no surprise to me and other media immune analysts that Assange has been chosen as the next major distraction strategy, as that legal case would most likely go on for years with the privately owned mass media luring all other 'alternative' media to follow suit, you nose-ringed imbeciles.

Assange would be a vigorous willing participant in this scheme not by choice I would add in this design, as he would be fighting for his life/liberty, of course he would be completely oblivious to its primary intent, understandable, however, his case would be far more enthralling than Mueller's wet-wick endeavours, in view of the fact that Mueller was appointed directly and indirectly by elites to pursue the evidence devoid, hollow case as long as possible and the media dutifully went into a frenzy, though it went to great pains NEVER to state clearly that the case/investigation was a completely orchestrated, evidence devoid trick, a planned strategy by elites which want nothing more than to stay out of the limelight or public focus, and so the entire Mueller affair existed only as media hype. But as we all know it worked a treat as intended, it was never about Trump/Russia it was about DISTRACTING you!

The elite criminal status quo did not miss a beat throughout. Wars of theft continue climate destabilisation continues at speed and your standard of living continues to plummet, but you were successfully distracted from these issues, and so you continue to suffer horrendous injustices and hardships.

Now consider all the obvious monetary corruption and known backroom deals with Ecuador's Moreno and the USA/IMF, to the desired effect of seizing Assange, the flagrant attempt by the DOJ to force Manning to frame Assange, the criminal defiance of Assange's asylum and the engineered loss of his Ecuadorian citizenship to boot, does it stink to you? Of course it does, but the illegalities involved in Assange's apprehension were rushed through as he was scheduled to be the next monumental media distraction, which is already working a treat, but it's nowhere near white heat, as that would take time and time is what is desired, the longer and more sensational the case, the better. And the (media) nose-ringed would do their part consciously or unconsciously – tragic.

Assange is only one person that knew the consequences of his actions against a thoroughly corrupt, criminal, LAWLESS state, which acts above the law to steal openly, mass murder and invade on pretexts any resource rich nation it chooses. The outcome of Assange's case is assured, GUILTY, so there is really no news. Now note, by media focusing on the case YOU would be distracted from actions supporting Assange and defying the criminal state, you see how easy it is to lead the nose-ringed slave population, wake up!

Public focus should shift to wealth disparity, illegal wars, failing infrastructure, social services, the Pentagon gutting the nation financially, pollution/climate catastrophe and more.

If you want to survive do not be LED, remain focused on the critical issues that affect you, your standard of living, liberties, wealth disparity and the failing environment. The privately owned mass media is nothing more than a weapon used against, YOU. It should be IGNORED in favour of alternative truth outlets, and there are many. Meanwhile it may (not likely) occur to you to fight for yourself and Assange, but then you would be forced to realise you have a backbone, you chicken-shits. Isn't it about time you restored your nation, you tragic doodle dandies? Criminal elites are a tiny minority and you are (POTENTIALLY) the most powerful social force in the nation, it is really a very simple matter -- REJECT undemocratic, unrepresentative minority, criminal rule.
