Meaning

the meaning of meaning evades understanding like a zen koan it cracks then shatters mind leaving only the pristine, unblemished origination how fearful this process, plucking metal feathers from grounded birds that wish only to fly tho the sky remains empty streams and rivers must flow to the sea and rise again to the sky like spine fountains that burst in the brain spilling soma, birthing creation a LIE was the cause of the fall and Truth/reality sets all free, watch rivers of light flow and circulate to see action arises from non-action effortlessly allow the flow of soma to circulate freely, ceaselessly by interrogating meaning

Be with me, tho this is no place for personal pronouns, the steel feathers that prevent flight existence does not labour, it simply becomes spontaneously, the above is as the below and that which is below must rise above, the hot flows to the cold and the cold warms to the above without effort all the power in creation is there for the taking if taking is effortless, spontaneous sweat, blood and sorrow plague those that try everything already is -could you add one cubit or remove one jot?

shattered pieces reform themselves automatically, black roses and scarlet tulips do not exist, the meaning of meaning cannot be defined tho meaning defines then shatters all things the void is full and overflowing and saturated existence is void this poem is not a riddle, discern the meaning of meaning to un-know, which unknowing gives rise to all knowledge this poem is not a poem it's a koan saturated with meaning tho appearing meaningless in the end/beginning u may discover that meaning is meaningless
