

The Enemies of Peace - and the Anatomy of War

by reg Saturday, May 25 2019, 10:16pm

international / prose / post

War essentially has two prime drivers, ideology and mercantilism. The 30 year war which engulfed Europe was an ideological war [as was the Russian and Chinese revolutions, for other examples] precipitated by the protestant reformation against a thoroughly corrupt ruling Catholic church. It was ruinous as history records. However, it did benefit war merchants, weapons manufacturers, bankers and expose the rottenness of iron-fist theological/ideological rule. Nevertheless, compliant established leaders (monarchs) of these wars, backed by huge mercantile/banker interests, which always win, failed to see they were increasing the power of the business/mercantile sector to such a degree that this group soon overwhelmed European monarchies and remains in power globally to this day - wars cannot be fought without weapons and finance, that simple.

So clearly we have vested interests involved in Wars, which group, originally ascended to power during the Renaissance and has maintained its power to this day as is easily seen in economically subjugated western democratic nations particularly the United States, which now follows a 'perpetual war' doctrine much to the glee of Jewish bankers (see above link), weapons manufacturers and other industries involved in war. We should not forget that some of the greatest minds that ever existed were involved in weapons development from the time of Archimedes to Da Vinci and some of the best scientific minds today follow suit, the huge amounts of money offered for superior weaponry is indeed tempting.

War mongers today now fiercely protect their murderous interests and use their huge wealth, derived from the blood of innocents, to preserve and increase their wealth and POWER by literally buying politicians/governments to do their bidding and ensure that their income source, WAR, is protected and THRIVES - and people wonder why Peace seems to be an impossible dream, well clearly it isn't a dream, forces exist that perpetuate the hell and profits of war intentionally, though PEACE is always an achievable alternative, though it is anathema to war profiteers that thrive on bloodshed and DESTRUCTION, as war allows for the same interests to then in-debt the nations they ruined, with 're-building' projects so other corporate interests are also able to profit but we should never forget that prior to illegal wars, nations were not in need of radical re-building and the huge finances required for those re-construction projects, which are geared toward resource exploitation not for the benefit of local populations. A very sordid and transparent ruse that global populations accept as natural, though clearly it is all by ruthless, murdering DESIGN.

These global elite interests are in fact the scourge of global society as they must ensure that peace is never entertained or achieved.

Wars are not accidental they are always based on either ideology and mercantilism/profit seeking, though today PROFIT seeking has become the prime factor as ideological wars such as Islamic Jihad are relatively minor, though these groups are also exploited by the major warring parties/interests, in other words, money is easily able to buy any religion today.

Clearly money worship has displaced all Gods today and pure ideological based wars are rare indeed, as the filthy lucre now rules global behaviour, nations are merely chess pieces moved at will on a privately OWNED board. Enough as the point is made. Nevertheless, the question which goes begging should be obvious, though the answer must be provided by a united global population, WHY NOT PEACE? It is easily achieved, warmongers and their supporters have always been and REMAIN a TINY vulnerable minority?

---

Inverse Times Open Publishing. <http://inversetimes.lingama.net/news/story-638.html>