

Obvious Reality and the Nose on Your Face

by stacey Thursday, Jun 27 2019, 8:00pm

international / prose / post

While the mass media continues to engage in DISTRACTING the public, Americans continue to be led by it like sheep to the slaughter. So I have a couple of questions for star-spangled, nose-ringed, media morons out there. Which terrorist nation leads the world in killing innocent civilians? Answer: AMERICA! Which nation leads the world in waging illegal, preemptive wars based on LIES, pretexts, false flags and numerous other fabrications? Answer: AMERICA! So let's get REAL for a change.

The 21st century is characterised by rogue state America ignoring international sovereignty law, humanitarian conventions and invading weaker nations in order to steal valuable resources and gain strategic advantage, deny it if you are able because it's as PLAIN AS DAY.

Now, if you are unable to apprehend simple reality, you automatically become a dysfunctional loser - living in a dreamworld is clearly counter-productive and ends in complete failure regardless of ANY endeavour that is attempted/pursued, again an obvious deduction, so look at the reality -- it's not China or Russia staging coups and invading other nations based on false flags and pretexts, it's AMERICA, plain as the nose on your stupid faces. So WHY continue to be distracted and duped by self-serving elite interests, as clearly you do NOT benefit from Washington's policies? A child can see the Truth before its eyes, but that seems to be a big ask for average Americans today.

Quite clearly all China desires and pursues is PEACEFUL business relations with the international community, look at its track record and compare to America's destructive perpetual war track record. So which nation is the greater threat to the world? Do I need to inform you, as the answer is in your face?

Is Russia running around the world threatening other nations? NO! Washington is, though it is failing to gain support for its obvious LIES regarding imaginary threats from other nations, there are only two nations that could really threaten America and they are Russia and China and clearly they present no threat at this stage, though continual, overt provocations by America may change that reality overnight. So it would seem that wise diplomacy and friendly relations should be the sensible course, but NO, not for America. Its nose-ringed population are not able to see anything that is not FED to them by their LYING (proven) mass media.

So while other nations pursue peaceful relations, known psychopaths and pathological LIARS in Washington continue to spout diatribes and attempt to wage war, NOT peace.

Now, if you ask the majority of people on this planet what they would rather do, wage war or engage in peaceful relations that benefit all, need I spell out the answer? And that answer is a warning message for all Americans and ROGUE Washington. Ignore good sense today to your great cost, the entire WORLD has had enough of American bullshit and its destructive CRIMINAL policies - PLAIN TO SEE for those able to see the nose on their face!

