

Gamble of the Century - Unprovoked WAR with Iran

An independent Australian journalist recently published an article with substantial support of her claims that war with Iran is imminent. If this report is accurate and at this stage everything points to its veracity, then we ALL could be doomed as today there is no such thing as a minor conflict involving superpowers, we know that Russia and China both support Iran.

Lock them up!

The utter recklessness of the rogue US admin is astonishing. How many Americans voted for a possible nuclear holocaust? Very few if any. So such a war would be imposed by rogue elements on the American and global population without a shred of independently verifiable evidence to support such a war, but Washington war hawks imagine they are able to DUPE the GLOBAL population yet again, I think not, however, once this war begins anything is possible. The arrogant mindless psychopaths, namely Bolton, Pompeo, Pence and Trump are all banking on previous Russian reticence and Chinese fear to engage America in a direct conflict, however, war on Iran changes that imbecilic notion today.

Put simply the entire WORLD cannot afford such a war, though the USA is hell bent on selling it with the usual false flags and duplicitous claims that Iran is the aggressor and that it would be a 'limited' conflict, no way, as US, Israeli, and Gulf State provocations have been widely published and remain on the public record for everyone to verify.

So the reality is that UNREPRESENTATIVE minority interests without public approval are about to MILITARILY engage Iran, Russia and China, hoping to get away with it as they once did in Iraq. Not a chance, but the US and its Middle East allies hope that once war is initiated people would support this war rather than challenge the criminals that triggered it - well, good luck war mongers as you all may get the shock of your lives.

While Russia and China would no doubt be slow to engage America, Iran's fierce defence of its nation, particularly blocking the world's oil supply in the straits of Hormuz, would escalate matters dramatically and force Russia's/China's hand and then God help all of us!

Nevertheless, as this war threatens the ENTIRE PLANET a preventative solution begs and that is wholly dependent on the GLOBAL population, which may, particularly in the nations that pursue this completely unnecessary war, a very strong reaction to the obvious criminals in power pursuing this psychopathic war. The days of wars fought by militaries are over as every person on the planet would be affected and national/global populations are not to be underestimated if pushed to extremes.

The stakes are extremely high not least the necks of known Washington, Saudi and Israeli psychopaths that have planned this war.

Of course PREVENTION in this case is the better option so sane people worldwide should encourage the populations of aggressor nations by example, rage publicly against this war, and act to prevent it before it's too late, and we all hope that none of us in the future are in the position to say we told you so. Though that outcome is highly likely but then who wins if we're all glowing in the dark?

It really is time to rein in unrepresentative governments and hold them accountable for all their obvious LIES, back room machinations and intrigues; we simply cannot afford to allow these lunatic types to lead nations any longer.

These two have more influence over Washington than their own populations
