

Details Behind the Political Stoush Between Political Correctness and Religion in Oz

by darcy Friday, Jul 12 2019, 10:04pm

international / prose / post

It had to happen sooner or later. Rabid political correctness (PC) vs established conservative political institutions, in this case Religion, and what a pathetic and revealing exposure it is turning out to be.

A divorced from reality millionaire religionist rugby player, Israel Folau, poured scorn on poofs dykes, drunks and fornicators, stating on social media they will all go to hell, which ridiculous action was in clear breach of his legal contract with Australian Rugby, which is sponsored by the intolerant and thin-skinned poof CEO of Qantas, Alan 'sweetie' Joyce, who was sorely offended and led the PC charge to have Folau sacked, which occurred due to the obvious spinelessness of Australian Rugby.

Now legally, Folau is in CLEAR breach of contract regarding making such statements, hence his sacking, however, Folau took to the internet to 'crowdfund' his untenable case of "unfair dismissal" against Australian Rugby, though as a millionaire he has ample funds to defend his own action.

Well, surprise, surprise, his crowdfunding manoeuvre resulted in an avalanche of support and funds from religious groups and secured him $millions to fight his unwinnable case, a signed contract is a CONTRACT to which both signatory parties must adhere, Folau has lost before he starts. But NO surprise, political opportunists in the form of mainstream politicians, particularly ill-advised Oz PM Scott Morrison, who now makes the claim that HE is a rabid religionist of the 'speaking (drivel) in tongues' Pentecostal variety, is clearly seeking to politically EXPLOIT the situation and quickly joined the fray and is NOW considering a 'Religious Freedom' bill to incorporate into law, which notion/bill is nuts as it would open a can of worms no political party or court would be able to adequately deal with due to the absurd, unreal and dangerous beliefs of fundamentalist religionists of ALL faiths; nevertheless, on on they all go, as there is a lot of social power and gain at stake for the winners, though all the active contenders are feeble minded social MINORITIES, once considered aberrants, deviants, including current politicians, though once tolerated by society, nevertheless, MAJORITY public tolerance is wearing very thin indeed.

We have as contenders PC loving sexual aberrants, protected by new laws, which are today able to elect a gender specification, forget real genitalia and reality in this post-modern approach, gender is now elective, which demonstrates to the sane MAJORITY that this whole debate and foray has entered into realms of the totally absurd, notwithstanding that metafiction, fabulation and the absurd, are all post-modern literary genres; however, the MAJORITY of Australians live in the REAL world and are losing patience and toleration faster than feeble minded Folau is able to quote from the Bible. However, there is nothing more intoxicating than once powerless fleas, now sanctioned by new PC laws, being able to wag the dog and insist that others bend to THEIR views.

Indeed, this case if not resolved expeditiously and sanely may return Oz society to the bad old days of poofster bashing and homo social discrimination in the work place, as corporations armed with the new tricks that HR departments specialise in, and wield legally, for example, declassify and reclassify the positions of 'trouble makers' which result in lower wages and conditions via re-allocations of duties, plus 'sorry no available shifts at the moment,' etc; so unrepresentative minorities drunk with power and PC freaks, BEWARE! Australia is an incredibly tolerant conservative society but once pushed over the extremist line, it's over! Take note opportunist political consultants and Pentecostal PM Morison, this situation is already becoming a political liability for obvious reasons.

Australian culture is distinct and applying American formulas here is a folly as they do not work as they do in subservient to authority America, take note of how the intended outcome of the Sydney Siege backfired dramatically and almost landed those who staged it, Tony Abbott, Mike Baird, the NSW police chief and the chiefs of other involved intel agencies, IN JAIL!

So gentlemen, how far do you wish to go with the current absurdity? As the above claim, an orchestrated and staged Martin Place SIEGE, has never been adequately and independently fully investigated, far too many compromising factors were never dealt with - should we now reopen that can of compromising worms, which would rock this nation to its foundations?

---

Inverse Times Open Publishing. <http://inversetimes.lingama.net/news/story-722.html>