

Election 2020 USA

by james Tuesday, Jul 16 2019, 10:49pm

international / prose / post

The American (unthinking) population (herd) is already being media-primed for the 2020 presidential election, the mass AND alternative media (shame on you) are awash with related stories/fictions regarding same; however, ALL coverage focuses on a binary choice between known vomits and turds - how could the American population be so easily led to the slaughter AGAIN when it is crystal clear US politicians that represent one of two major parties are pathological LIARS and duplicitous, reprehensible sell-outs? Surely this must be a case of mass cultural masochism, a cultural pathology, sickness?

Think of options outside the sick box, think REAL DEMOCRACY, majority RULE/representation, which is not a media staged FAKE fight between two bought and owned major party leaders while the pre-selected (by elites) 'winner,' waits to be anointed as the next acquiescing servant of corporate and banker elites that ALWAYS WIN American presidential elections; and when/if they somehow fail, unlikely today due to partial media, they do what comes natural to them, murder and assassinate real democratic leaders as the Kennedy brothers' fate indicates.

Must Americans fall for the two horse, one stable fake race yet again?

Not one word of any options from either the mass media, expected, or the American alternative media, shame on your myopic tunnel vision, which today has the breadth of a human hair. Need you ask why America's decline from global power and influence is the fastest ever seen in history?

Few if any media voices are delivering viable options. The two major party adversarial system is not only a sham it's toxic as it is populated by duplicitous, bought and trained to LIE and DECEIVE, SELF-INTERESTED career politicians!

Americans should ask themselves what choices they have if they reject the two party charade and then approach the matter creatively - the world already is aware of the many failed ideological systems or 'isms,' NONE have ever produced democracy, FACT!

Of course the situation is easily remedied, first by COMPLETELY rejecting the obvious two major party sham/charade and then supporting a dark horse with little funds, as that is one sure sign of INTEGRITY, mega-wealthy elites never support the dark horse, however, contenders must have real POLICIES that are practical and easily understood by the struggling masses, like appropriating money that is required to restore the nation from those cheats and white-collar criminals that currently possess it, mostly concentrated on Wall Street, by favoring candidates that truly, with a known record, or at the very least practical policies that assist the nation and PEOPLE -- NOT minority elites alone - which group have stolen over decades America's vast wealth, and don't kid yourselves, there is no shortage of wealth, however, we know that available wealth is now concentrated in the fewest possible hands and as that wealth increases, unrepresentative minorities increase THEIR, not your power.

Equitable management of available national wealth, which the people (slave workers) have earned doesn't exist in America today, as bought corrupt politicians ensure (with lies and deception) that their elite masters accumulate evermore wealth/power while the people are reduced to eating shit - and that would always be the result if the current corrupt system is not overtaken by real representative democracy.

Need I remind the American masses/people that America today is at its historical height in social division and social fragmentation -- now, the PEOPLE are, and always will be the most powerful social force in the country providing they fight/reject all the divisive, alienating LYING tricks, racism etc, the elite owned mass media use to dis-empower the masses as ONE single force - you are ONE people, America, and never forget it!

Now remedy the doomed to fail, entropic, self-annihilating current direction the US has taken or go down with the ship. The nation's fate is in YOUR collective hands.

[This story applies to ALL western 'democracies' though the focus here is on the USA, as America leads the world in thoroughly corrupt, minority ruled, FAKE Democracy.]

Share around.

Inverse Times Open Publishing. <http://inversetimes.lingama.net/news/story-732.html>