

Any Nation or People that Trust the Duplicitous, Self-seeking USA Deserve What they Get

by ned Wednesday, Oct 9 2019, 8:51pm

international / prose / post

Self-proclaimed Sultan of Turkey, Erdogan, has just invaded the Kurdish region of Syria, which idiotic action will have numerous disastrous repercussions, primarily with the sovereign Syria government, as this foolish action is an act of war and with ally Russia, Syria must deal with this outrageous invasion immediately, notwithstanding that the American puppet Kurds have been stabbed in the back by America that promised them the moon in exchange for their services fighting Assad, only to abandon them to the Turks led by unhinged, megalomaniac Erdogan. And all this in full view of recent history, that is, America once AGAIN abandons an ally; consider the fate of allied Iraq led by Saddam Hussein in the long war against Iran, and when it failed, America, true to form, expeditiously stabbed Saddam in the back and had him gruesomely executed. Not to mention the Mujaheddin of Afghanistan dumped after they served the US/CIA fighting Russian invaders.

Gaddafi also paid the price for foolish, misplaced trust in the West after he was assured he would be left alone if he abandoned weapons development which he did, but was then bombed to smithereens by American puppet NATO and murdered. The entire filthy, sordid mess of America's back-stabbing foreign policy is historically recorded for anyone to research. And so it continues to be played out today with the Kurds left defenceless ready to be slaughtered.

The Saudis are now screaming for support and assistance from America in view of their disgusting failures to topple Shia Houthi rebels in Yemen, which group now threatens the very house of Saud. Perhaps the duplicitous Americans, after duping naïve boy prince Salman to buy $billions in second rate 'advanced' weaponry intended that the medieval house of Saud should fall. The Emirates are also quaking in their sandals as it has become obvious that the friend you need for support is never there when the shit hits the fan.

These recent events have seen Filipino president Duterte making a speech in Russia stating that the neocon dream of 'pax-Americana' is nothing more than that, a pipe-dream, though any historian could have informed America or any world leader that any nation or megalomaniac leader that imagines they are able to rule the globe is nuts and doomed to failure, and in relation to America all this is happening before our eyes in one lifetime, unlike the mighty empires of the past which all fell over time due to overreach, pure and simple, as clearly, no single nation or group of nations are able to dominate the entire world, as any sane, informed person should be aware.

But is Washington aware as it continues to be ruled by neocons though that rule is now rapidly waning. Though the consequences of their INSANE dream/policies are now easily assessed, the entire American mess of colour revolution (illegal regime change), invasive and proxy wars, utilising paid extremists, has failed miserably and cost America $trillions in wasted money and bribes pursuing world domination, what a fantastic, unrealistic dream, which economic powerhouse China, and superior weapons developer Russia, have recently proven to the WORLD.

Indeed, it's no secret America is in the last throes of its short-lived empire beginning after WWII and ending NOW, only 70 years later.

Israel, and allied Arab Gulf States see the writing on the wall, however, desperate nations/leaders seek desperate solutions, hence so many visits to Russia by various world leaders not bound as vassals. Desperate 'solutions' that would end all nations allied with sick and fraying at the seams, America, which is currently run by a clown president that is causing deep state rulers much vexation as they are unable to simply shoot him due to his fully armed red-neck, survivalist and fundamentalist Christian support base, which group unleashed threatens the stability of the nation - O, what tangled webs duplicitous, avaricious, cold blooded murderers weave when chasing a fool's dream; but chase it America must as it is in too deep to change course now, so prudent nations are abandoning America in droves, as America has always abandoned its own 'allies', in fact America has never had allies since WWII, it has only pursued its OWN interests exploiting/using other nations/leaders as EXPENDABLE puppets and pawns, plain to see.

The world today is changing fast in many ways, mostly destructive, and one need not be a soothsayer to predict the calamitous future as there is no easy way out for America and its allies or those nations -- China and Russia -- that hope to easily topple a dying beast still armed with enough nuclear fight left in it to threaten human survival.

However, only one SURE solution presents itself to the world, a united global front against America, which would see it either join a new multi-polar world or be obliterated, which Washington neocons would welcome as all megalomaniacs prefer a nihilistic end when confronted with abject FAILURE.

As for the global 7 billion population it continues to sit media nose-ringed with its collective thumb firmly implanted in its paralysed arse, as the only REAL solution/remedy/saving force in the current and near future situation MUST come from the PEOPLE (no hope). And so it's reaping what we sowed, or blowback time, EVERYONE!

Watch it all unfold before your stupid cowardly eyes, and when you realise the consequences of your collective, passive, INACTIONS, it would be too late to save yourselves, you miserable sheep, truly fit for the slaughter.

<https://sputniknews.com/columnists/201910091077000415-betraying-kurds-is-the-american-way/>

Inverse Times Open Publishing. <http://inversetimes.lingama.net/news/story-849.html>